Dear The Federal Communications Commission,

I use my prepaid cellular phone only for emergency calls and when I am unable to use my home telephone. The flat-fee would mean a tax hike for people like me -- consumers that use prepaid cellular phones or make few long distance calls.

I support the Keep USF Fair Coalition, and monitor this issue on their website.

Under the flat fee proposal you are considering, people who make few long distance calls would pay the same as people or businesses that make many calls; low-volume and primarily residential customers would bear the same universal service fund burden as high-volume residential or business customers. I urge you to reject this flat-fee proposal.

Thank you.
